Evaluate the effects of technology on daily life. Do you think technological developments make human life easier or more complicated? Support your opinion with examples.

Answer

Technology has become a part of every aspect of our lives. Thanks to smartphones, computers, and artificial intelligence applications, we can complete our tasks much faster. For example, research that used to take hours can now be done in just a few minutes. However, technology also has negative sides; people spend more time on social media instead of face-to-face communication, which weakens relationships. In my opinion, technology makes life easier when used correctly, but more complicated when it is misused.

Audio/Video Recording

You covered the topic in a clear and understandable way, and it's good that you discussed both the positive and negative sides of technology — that gives your writing a balanced tone. However, in some parts, you could explain your ideas in more depth and make your examples a bit more specific. Also, improving your conclusion with a stronger closing message would make your essay more impactful. Overall, this is a solid start — with a few revisions, your writing could become even more engaging and persuasive.
